Η κυβέρνηση για την αποστολή Patriot στην Ουκρανία
(05/05/25)

Διαψεύδουν κυβερνητικές το δημοσίευμα των New York Times, σύμφωνα με τις οποίες η Ελλάδα θα μπορούσε να είναι μία από τις χώρες που θα αποστείλουν μονάδα Patriot στην Ουκρανία. Σύμφωνα με το αμερικανικό μέσο, που επικαλείται ανώνυμες πηγές, η Ουκρανία ενδέχεται να λάβει σύντομα δύο επιπλέον μονάδες του συστήματος αεροπορικής άμυνας Patriot.

If Pakistan Is Recognizing Occupied Cyprus, Why Shouldn't Cyprus Recognize Baluchistan?

(05/05/25)

Cyprus, Greece, as well as the broader European Union and the United States should be aggressive in the response and promote aspirant countries and peoples like the Kurds and Talysh, as well as openly support the restoration of the sovereignty of Nagorno-Karabakh and Kalat [Baluchistan].

All Turks, Azeris, and Pakistani must understand that if their leaders open the Pandora's Box, there will be no closing it and, whether next year or a decade from now, they will face a common result:

Partition and division. Ankara, Baku, and Islamabad may come to lament that fact, but Diyarbakir as the new capital of Kurdistan, Stepanakert as the renewed capital of Nagorno-Karabakh, Lankaran as the capital of the Talysh Republic, and Kalat or Gwadar as the capital of Baluchistan will celebrate.

Russia and China Criticize Trump's 'Iron Dome for America' Plan

Russia and China on Thursday criticized U.S. President Donald Trump's proposal to develop a missile defense system modeled on Israel's Iron Dome, calling it "deeply destabilizing" and warning it could turn space into a "battlefield."

Trump ordered the creation of what he has called a "Golden Dome" shortly after taking office in January, a program aimed at countering ballistic and hypersonic missile threats. The initiative revives elements of the Reagan-era "Star Wars" missile defense project, which proposed deploying space-based interceptors.

"The recently announced large-scale 'Golden (Iron) Dome for America' program is also deeply destabilizing," Russia and China said in a joint statement published by the Kremlin following talks between Presidents Vladimir Putin and Xi Jinping in Moscow.

The missile defense plan "explicitly provides for a significant strengthening of the arsenal for conducting combat operations in space," the statement added.

Moscow and Beijing said they would begin consultations on preventing the deployment of weapons in space and pledged to "counter policies and activities aimed at achieving military supremacy and formalizing the use of space as a battlefield."

Trump's "Golden Dome" proposal references Israel's Iron Dome system, which has successfully intercepted short-range rockets. But the threats faced by the U.S., including long-range ballistic and hypersonic missiles, differ significantly from those countered by the Israeli system.

Russia and the U.S. have increasingly accused each other of militarizing space in recent years.

The Russian Army has received new batches of T-90M and T-72B3M main battle tanks, which were delivered to frontline units from the Uralvagonzavod tank plant in the first week of May, and benefit from a number of capability improvements reflecting lessons learned from high intensity combat in the Ukrainian theatre. New variants of the two tanks benefit from reinforced rooftop cage armour to provide physical protection against drones, loitering munitions, and top-attack anti-tank guided missiles, which have been used extensively by both sides against enemy armour. Both tank classes also benefit from electronic warfare antennas mounted at the front hull intended to intercept low-flying drone threats, which are suspected to be tied to anti-drone jammers such as the Volnerez system. Following reports in August that T-90Ms were integrating the Arena-M active protection system, and subsequent reports that T-72s modernised with similar levels of armour protection were also to receive the system, new batches of the tanks have reportedly been delivered with the Arena-M providing significantly greater

No New Abrams Tanks For Ukraine: U.S. Blocking Australian Delivery as Performance Raises Questions

(05/05/25)

The United States is reported to be blocking the transfer of 49 M1A1 Abrams main battle tanks from Australia to Ukraine, with experts pointing to delayed U.S. export approvals as the primary cause for a lack of progress towards delivering the vehicles. Transfers of American-manufactured defence equipment to any third party require formal authorisation from Washington, with a lack of such authorisation having impeded progress since plans to deliver the vehicles were first announced over six months ago in October 2024. This has fuelled speculation that the United States is seeking to have the vehicles delivered at a later stage in the conflict, possibly after a ceasefire deal is reached. Abrams tanks have suffered very high attrition rates when deployed on the frontlines, compromising the class’ reputation and raising the possibility of extreme losses should large numbers of new vehicles be delivered while the conflict is still ongoing. Of the 31 of the vehicles delivered by the United States from September 2023, over 20 are reported to have been lost or seriously damaged. Most kills on film being achieved by guided artillery or by single use ‘kamikaze’ drones, although one of the tanks was confirmed to have been achieved by a Russian T-72B3 tank after the two exchanged fire near Avdiivka.

Chechen Akhmat Special Forces Halt Ukrainian Advance Into Kursk

(05/05/25)

Akhmat Special Forces from the Russian Chechnyan region were on May 4 reported to have thwarted a Ukrainian incursion into the embattled Kursk Region, according to a report by Head of the Chechen Republic Ramzan Kadyrov. "The Kashtan group of the Akhmat Special Forces, a unit of the Russian Defence Ministry, in coordination with assault teams from the 2nd Special Forces Brigade and 15th Tank Regiment have prevented Ukrainian gunmen from penetrating into the Kursk Region," he stated, adding that the coordinates of Ukrainian personnel were obtained using drones, and subsequently shared with supporting tank crews. "The enemy group was wiped out by high-precision strikes," he added.

Trump's Virgil Sollozzo Approach to Israel

(08/05/2025)

But of course the U.S. is going to inevitably be dragged into Netanyahu's mess, no matter how much Trump tries to shunt aside the things he'd rather not deal with. Telling Israel to do whatever it wants in Gaza and wishing them best of luck is not a viable strategy for building a new integrated security architecture in the Middle East, or for preventing an Israel-Turkey clash in Syria, or for insulating the new agreement with the Houthis, or for advancing regional normalization. The U.S. is not going to be immune from the blowback when Israel's plan to ration out meals per family and distribute them via contractors goes quickly south and the situation in Gaza worsens. Trump will not avoid the fallout from Egypt and Jordan if Israel resettles Gaza, annexes the West Bank, and tries to push Palestinians out of both places. Like Vito Corleone making the mistake of giving Sollozzo a pat on the back with a brief warning not to entangle him in his affairs and then sending him on his way, Trump's approach to Israel of beneficent indifference will not age well.

Congo and M23 rebels resume peace talks in Doha, sources say (06/05/25)

DOHA, May 6 (Reuters) - The Democratic Republic of Congo and Rwandan-backed M23 rebels have restarted peace talks in Qatar, sources said on Tuesday, part of a diplomatic effort to end fighting in Congo's war-ravaged east.

The credibility of US backing for a DRC–Rwanda peace deal rests on the risk appetite of corporate America

Washington needs to back projects that support local livelihoods and offer security. It must also clarify US regulation to overcome mining operators' wariness of investing in the Great Lakes region.

(07/05/2025)

The DRC was looking to capitalize on the US and UN calling out Rwanda's support for the M23 and illegal mineral flows. Washington and Kinshasa also have a mutual desire to limit Congolese dependence on China.

The M23's direct involvement cuts across Kinshasa's red line of not granting the group undeserved political legitimacy by bringing them to the table.

But rather than a bilateral US–DRC 'minerals for security' arrangement, Massad Boulos, Trump's senior adviser for Africa and the Middle East, has said that bilateral economic agreements will be signed with both DRC and Rwanda ahead of a final peace accord, hopefully within two months.

This approach reflects the Trump administration's instinct for peace deals that prioritize a realpolitik acceptance of the balance of power over the principle of territorial integrity or international law.

China's Role Behind The Reconciliation in the Middle East

(05/05/25)

Since the beginning of the new decade in 2011, China has begun to pay special attention to the Middle East (Khan, 2021). China's foreign policy towards the Middle East post-Arab Spring is driven by China's perception of several interests in the region such as commercial and energy interests, safety, foreign nationals, fear of widespread terrorism and extremism, and the drive to prevent internal unrest triggered by social problems similar to those in the Middle East. China believes it can achieve these goals through a flexible and cautious policy. China entered into Saudi Arabia and Iran by placing a position as a neutral actor. This neutrality is because China maintains good relations with Saudi Arabia and Iran as partner countries in the Middle East.

Indian Air Force Faces PR Crisis After $240 Million Rafale Confirmed Destroyed
(07/05/25)

Shortly after the Indian Air Force's initiation of Operation Sindoor, which saw a series of strikes launched against targets in Pakistan and disputed Kashmir, reports of losses among the country's fighter fleet quickly began to emerge. Alongside evidence of a Pakistani shootdown of a MiG-29 fighter, and possibly a Mirage 2000, photographic evidence of the wreckage of another fighter has confirmed the loss of a Rafale. Pylon mounts, missile parts, and engine debris confirm that the aircraft lost could not be any other fighter class, although the detonation of the fighter's ammunition caused a secondary explosion after impact that scattered debris and caused further casualties. Although several Indian sources were quick to claim that the fighter crashed in a non-combat related incident, the possibility of the fighter having been shot down either by Pakistani fighters, or by the country's long range air defences, is considered high. The discovery of debris from a Chinese made PL-15 long range air-to-air missile in India indicates that at least one of Pakistan's most capable fighter classes, the J-10C and JF-17 Block III, were involved in clashes, with the newly procured J-10C in particular long expected to have significant advantages in combat over the Rafale.

Leveraging digital technology helps NATO work more effectively, including through the use of data as a strategic asset. The strategy outlines how to better collect, store, and distribute information across the Alliance with common standards. The requirements will create a secure and impactful data-sharing ecosystem, where the Alliance, industry, and academia will be able to securely access and collaborate – including on artificial intelligence (AI) and machine learning (ML) models – while ensuring Allies retain control over their data.
